NO EVIDENCE OF ATTEMPT TO "FIX" '20 SERIES FOUND

Not Even Suspicion of It, Statement of New York District Attorney.

PLAYERS PLAN TO FIGHT

Happy Felsch, Buck Weaver and Charlie Risberg Deny Charges and Say They Will Employ Counsel; Probe to Be Continued Next Week, Chicago

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—District Attorney Lewis of Kings county today issued a statement in which he declared investigation by his office has failed to disclose any plan to "fix" the 1920 world series.

"My investigations have not disclosed a single suspicion that there has been any attempt to 'fix' the coming series," said Mr. Lewis in his statement exonerating all members of the Brooklyn Nationals.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2—An order extending the period of the September grand jury indefinitely to permit continuation of its investigation of the baseball scandal was issued today by Judge MacDonald. The grand jurors will meet again Tuesday to hear testimony of John McGraw, Fred Toney and Benny Kauff, in connection with allegations that Hal Chase, Lee Magee and Heinie Zimmerman were dropped from baseball last year because of gambling.

Interest in the investigation today hinged on reports from New York that John "Sport" Sullivan of Boston against whom a true bill was voted last week would come to Chicago to reveal the "brains" behind the plot which led to the bribing of players to lose the series last year.

Reports from New York say Sullivan, who is now there, has declared the gamblers are trying to make him the "goat" and that he will tell everything he knows when he appears before the grand jury.

Happy Felsch, who was reported by a local newspaper last week as having made a statement that he received $5,000 to help lose the series, today denied the charge and said he would join Buck Weaver and Charlie Risberg to employ counsel to fight the case.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—The Cook county grand jury, which has been conducting the investigation into the alleged "fixing" of the 1919 world series today was made a special body to continue its series of baseball investigation for evidence of crookedness.

The regular sessions of the grand jury were completed yesterday. There was no session today other than perfunctory one to dispose of the formalities making it a special body. Testimony will be resumed Monday.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 — Representatives of four major league baseball clubs Friday started a movement designed to "clean up baseball for ever" by taking control of the game out of the hands of men financially interested and placing it under a "civilian tribunal" to be composed of men "of unquestionable public standing," abolishing the National commission.

A letter was sent to every major league club and dozens of others interested, asking their approval of the plan which was characterized as a means of "giving professional baseball to the American people—where it belongs—and taking ownership of it away from club owners and players."

The letter was signed by William Veeck, president of the Chicago National league club; Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago American league club; Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburg club, and John J. McGraw, vice president and general manager of the New York National league club.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—Abe Attell, former feather-weight champion, whose name has been connected with rumors that the 1919 world series was "fixed" by a syndicate of gamblers will be forcibly brought to the office of District Attorney Swann of New York for questioning if he can be found by detectives who are searching for him.

LUTHERANS BEGIN DRIVE TOMORROW TO RAISE $40,000 FUND

Hope Is That Greater Part of Sum, For Wiping Out Indebtedness, Will be Received First Day.

The campaign of Trinity Lutheran church for $40,000 to liquidate the indebtedness and also raise the Thiel college fund opens tomorrow at morning services. The committee hopes to raise the greater part of this money before the close of the service. The remainder will be solicited by canvassing teams throughout next week.

Rev. Dr. W. H. Hetrick, the pastor, has urged that there be a full attendance tomorrow morning and that everyone come prepared to make a subscription, payable in three years, by quarterly instalments at each communion season. If every member does this, it will be an easy matter to secure the desired amount, it is pointed out.

Members of the canvassing teams and others of the church were guests at a banquet in the dining room of the church last evening. They were addressed by Rev. Dr. Ellis B. Burgess, former pastor of the church and now president of the Pittsburg synod.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYS JOHNSTOWN ELEVEN TO STANDSTILL, 0-0

Cokers Develop Unexpected Strength in Defense; Offense Also Effective.

Connellsville's high school football team sprung a surprise on the "home bunch" when word reached here this afternoon that the eleven played Johnstown to a standstill this morning, the final score being 0-0. Journeying to the Flood City with only a week's tutoring under Coach J. Paul Rupp the Cokers accomplished what seemed impossible—the staving off of defeat.

According to word received early in the afternoon, both Haddock and Jim Strawn showed up to advantage in the game. It may be said that never has a Coker team gone to Johnstown with as much determination to make a showing. The Cokers, according to the telephone message, pushed the Flood City team back into the shadow of their goal posts but could not score.

The happy team and the few rooters who accompanied it left Johnstown at 4:40 o'clock this afternoon.

REGISTRATION BRISK DURING MORNING HOURS

Registrars Are Kept Busy at Noon Hour; Interest Seems to Be Picking Up.

TODAY LAST OPPORTUNITY

Failure to be Enrolled Before 10 O'clock Tonight Means Loss of Vote; Women Not Assessed Within Time Limit Cannot Vote, November.

Today being the last day for the registration of voters in the city the registrars were kept somewhat busier than they were during the morning hours of September 11. Women turned out in some wards in large numbers but in others there was the same low total for the morning hours.

The registrars were kept busier around the noon hour and there was also quite a turnout after the polling places opened this afternoon. The registrars request those who intend to register tonight to go to the polling places as early as possible to avoid the last minute rush.

In past years there has been no very heavy rush at the closing hours but on the other two registration days this year the registrars were swamped when closing time came.

In several of the wards women who appeared before the registrars had already paid their taxes and did not have to bother with this when they appeared to be enrolled.

Interest among the voters seems to have picked up since the last registration days. This is probably due to the efforts of central committeemen, and also to additional interest in the election which is just one month from today.

DEMOCRATIC BUNGLING RESULTS IN WOMAN LOSING

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2.—The Dauphin county court decided today that women who were not assessed within the time limit prescribed by law are not entitled to vote at the November election. The case was raised by the county Democratic chairman here who appealed to the court in the name of a Democratic voter who lost her opportunity for assessment by being out of town on the last day. The court expressed regret in being forced by the "plain language of the constitution" to take this action. The Republican organization had offered a way out of court to permit all women to vote by the expedient of agreeing not to challenge any woman voter on the question of assessment.

The registrars and deputy tax collectors will be at the ward polling places until 10 o'clock tonight.

Men should not forget to bring along receipts for county tax paid within two years. In cases of aliens becoming citizens naturalization papers must be shown.

SPEEDERS STILL MENACE THE LIVES OF SOUTH SIDERS

More Complaints Heard, This Time Relative to Lincoln Avenue.

South Siders are again up in arms over the reckless manner in which some automobiles are driven without regard for the safety of pedestrians. The latest expressions of indignation have been caused by narrow escapes school children have had from being hit near the corner of Lincoln avenue and Pittsburg street.

Drivers almost invariably speed up when going south on Pittsburg street to get a start for the climb up Lincoln avenue. A resident has pointed out that this is the converging point for the South Side school children. Every student south of Lincoln avenue passes at that point and those living on Arch street come out Gallatin avenue to the same center. For 20 minutes before the convening of the high school the street crossing is a busy place. While some of the students are older and more cautious there are younger girls and boys who attend the junior high school. These often do not give a thought to traffic at that point, to them distant from the business district, and a number of narrow escapes have taken place.

Much of the fault is with drivers who do not slow down, thinking the sound of their horn will cause the youngsters to scurry to safety. This is not always the case and more caution is necessary, it is pointed out.

ONE FOR ALL AND ALL FOR ONE MUST BE MOTTO--HARDING

Republican Nominee Voices Sentiment in Speech on Coördination of Resources.

By Associated Press.

WEST JEFFERSON, O., Oct. 2.—Advocating an agricultural and industrial policy to coördinate American resources for the common good, Senator Harding declared today that "one for all and all for one" must be the motto of individual effort if the nation is to achieve its full potentialities.

"I want to see American life so knit together," he said, "and every American so appreciative of the fact that the welfare of his fellow is his own welfare that we will go forward to weave a great and humane pattern of united Americanism."

Making a particular appeal for betterment of the condition of the farmer the nominee stated that agricultural production really was of greater interest to those who live in cities than to the farmers themselves.

FORMER SENATOR W. MURRAY CRANE CALLED BY DEATH

Noted Republican Leader Succumbs to Long Strain of Overwork.

LONG A POWER IN NATION

Last Appearance in the Political Arena at Time of National Convention in Chicago; Never Made "Speech" During His Long Career in Congress.

By Associated Press.

DALTON, Mass., Oct. 2—W. Murray Crane, former United States senator and for years a power in the Republican party, died early today at "Sugar Hill," the family home. The end came quietly after four days of heavy sleep, almost of unconsciousness. The sleeping sickness had set in after an illness of several months and it was this which immediately preceded death, the actual cause of which was said to be inflammation of the brain. At his bedside were his wife, his son, W. Murray Crane, Jr., and two sisters.

National politics, in which Senator Crane had been an active figure for years, was closely connected with the illness which was precursory of the end. The senator, who had been national committeeman of the Republican party in Massachusetts for years, announced his retirement before the national convention but went to Chicago to make a fight for endorsement of the League of Nations. His health was not good but those associated with him said he decided to make what would probably be his last fight in politics for the issue that lay closest to his heart. He retired from the struggle further impaired in health. He emerged from semi-retirement to attend the exercises at Northampton on July 27, the formal notification of Governor Coolidge, his long time friend, of nomination for the vice presidency. His health was not equal to the double exaction of a torrid sun and the fatigue and he suffered a collapse, recovering, however, sufficiently to be removed to his home.

The senator rallied for a time but failed again several weeks ago and it was feared the end was near. But the vitality which had carried him through years of work without vacation asserted itself and again strength came to him and it appeared that he was to recover. Within the last week heart action became weak and long spells of drowsiness were succeeded by heavy sleep. He appeared to rally at times but finally lapsed into partial coma, ended by death.

An outstanding characteristic of Winthrop Murray Crane, former Governor of Massachusetts and for two terms a United States Senator from that state, was the fact that he attained eminence in public life without being an orator. Although he served eight years in the Senate it was said of him that he never made what really could be called a "speech" in that body. The successor of Senator Hoar, whose wit and eloquence rang through the halls of Congress, Crane's chief claim to distinction was that of silent leadership and of a party mediator.

Born in Dalton, Mass., April 23, 1853, the son of Zenas M. Crane, a paper manufacturer, young Crane was educated in the public schools and at Williston seminary. He never attended college but, after leaving the seminary, entered the paper mills founded by his grandfather at Dalton and in them he maintained an interest throughout his life. For many years these mills produced the paper used by the United States government in engraving its currency, bonds and notes. Because of his interests in this industry and his desire to continue with it, Mr. Crane, at the beginning of President Roosevelt's administration, declined an invitation to enter his cabinet as secretary of the treasury.

Senator Crane was always interested in scientific agriculture. By the application of business methods he developed 2,700 acres of neglected land in Dalton into a successful farm. Mr. Crane made many important gifts to his home town and gave largely to charitable objects. He was credited with having saved many individuals and small companies in the Berkshires from bankruptcy when they were overcome by business difficulties. Williams college bestowed upon him the honorary degree of master of arts in 1897 and in 1903 Harvard made him a doctor of laws.

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Governor Coolidge, when he learned today of the death of Senator Crane, ordered the flag at the state house brought to half-mast and made the following statement.

"A great man has passed whose going will deeply grieve the commonwealth. He inspired the love of all who knew him. In the affections of his fellowmen he stood first in Massachusetts."

COURT RULES CONDUCTOR IN FREIGHT SERVICE CAN'T OUST PASSENGER UNDER SENIORITY

By Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2.—Overruling the railway adjustment board, created by the Esch-Cummings act, Judge Clark, Kentucky court of appeals, late yesterday granted an injunction to W. W. Gregg, Louisville & Nashville passenger conductor, to prevent his being supplanted on his run by William Pennybaker, freight conductor.

The case was appealed by Gregg from the circuit court at Louisville when he was refused a restraining order. The suit grew out of the fact that Pennybaker applied for Gregg's job under the seniority rule of the railroad and the brotherhood and was upheld by Railway Adjustant Board No. 1, Washington. Pennybaker is a brotherhood member but as Gregg is not he asked the circuit court at Louisville for the injunction on the grounds that the seniority contract did not apply to the brotherhood. The injunction was refused and he appealed to the court of appeals.

Judge Clark held that the adjustment board had authority only to pass upon disputes submitted before federal administration ceased and therefore has no jurisdiction in this case which was filed after that time.

As to the seniority rule the court held it could not be invoked by a freight conductor to displace a passenger conductor.

It is said this is the first case of its kind ever contested in civil court.

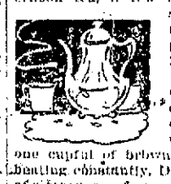
A TEA-TIME CAKE OR TWO.

For those who practice serving afternoon tea, a few choice cakes and sandwiches are needed to accompany the refreshing beverage.



Oriental Tea Cakes.—Work one-fourth of a cup of shortening until creamy, add one cupful of brown sugar gradually, beating constantly. Dissolve one-eighth of a teaspoon of soda in one tablespoonful of water and add this to the first mixture; then add one-half teaspoon of vanilla and one cupful of flour. Mix it until it holds together well and leaves no crumbs in the bowl. If it separates add water a drop at a time until the mixture can be molded into small balls. Place the balls on buttered tins an inch and a half apart and bake in a quick oven until delicately browned. This recipe will make 40 cakes.

Ham Tomato Toast.—Take one-half tablespoonful of minced onion and one tablespoonful of minced green pepper; cook in two tablespoonfuls of butter, then add two tablespoonfuls of flour, a teaspoonful of sugar, a few dashes of pepper, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half cupful of minced ham, and a cupful of tomato puree. Serve on toast.

Almond Toast.—Mix five cupfuls of flour, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one-fourth of a cup of butter, one-half cupful of milk, one-half teaspoon of vanilla, four eggs, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, four tablespoonfuls of olive oil. Mix as usual, adding at the last one-fourth of a pound of split unblanched almonds. Knead lightly and well, using flour on the hands to keep from sticking. Turn into three well greased bread pans and bake in a moderate oven until brown. Cut the loaves in half-inch slices and place them crosswise in a pan to brown; turn so that the sides will brown. Cool before packing away. These are excellent to serve with tea or coffee and will keep for weeks in a dry place.

WORLD'S RAILROADS TURN TO U. S. FOR THEIR MATERIALS

Exports For the Last Fiscal Year Were Over $150,000,000 in Value.

500% GAIN IN SIX YEARS

WORLD'S R. R's—Weedlie—cludedyn Included Everything from Spikes to Locomotives; Evidences Confidence in Quality of American Manufacturers; France Largest of the Buyers.

The railroads of the world are now turning to the United States for material with which to renew and enlarge their working plants. Our exports of railway material in the fiscal year 1920 aggregated over $150,000,000 in value as against $80,000,000 in 1918 and $25,000,000 in the year before the war.

Necessarily, says a statement by the National City Bank of New York, the world's railways "marked time" to a very considerable degree during the war, especially in new construction. Even in our own country the number of miles of road constructed in the six years since the beginning of the war has been little more than that of certain single years during the period of our active railway construction. In Europe the construction of new roads was, of course, limited by war demands and in many cases the destruction far exceeded the construction. In other parts of the world which had relied chiefly upon Europe for financing new construction and supplying materials therefor the industry of railroad building came also to practically a standstill, and the world's railway mileage emerged from the war period showing but a small percentage of gain over that at its beginning.

It is not surprising then, to find that our exports of materials for railways in 1920 are six times as much in value as in the year preceding the war. Indeed the grand total of material exported for railways would probably approximate, and perhaps exceed, $200,000,000 if complete figures could be obtained. In certain lines such as steel rails, other track materials, locomotives and cars, both freight and passenger, exact figures are available, but it is not practicable to determine what proportion of the $25,000,000 worth of structural steel or the $50,000,000 worth of metal working machinery exported in 1920 was for the railways. In locomotives alone the total exports in the fiscal year 1920 amounting to $43,000,000 against $25,000,000 in 1919 and less than $4,000,000 in the fiscal year 1914, all of which preceded the war. Of steel rails the total for 1920 was $22,000,000 against $10,000,000 in 1914, and of other track materials, including "frogs," switches, spikes and ties, exported in 1920, $12,000,000 against approximately $5,000,000 in 1914. Railway cars for freight purposes show very large totals in the exports of 1920, $54,000,000 against $15,000,000 in 1918, and $5,000,000 in 1914.

This demand for new materials for construction or equipment of world railways is especially interesting as evidence of the world's growing confidence in the quality of American manufactures. The calls for this high grade product come from every direction. Of the $53,000,000 worth of freight cars for steam railways exported in 1920 no less than $31,000,000 worth went to France, $11,000,000 to Italy and $5,000,000 to Cuba. Of the $32,000,000 worth of steel rails exported in 1920, the distribution was much wider, $12,000,000 worth to Japan, $5,000,000 to Cuba, $1,000,000 to China, including the leased territory of Kwang-tung, $1,500,000 worth to Brazil, $1,300,000 to France, $2,000,000 to British South Africa, $1,200,000 worth to the Philippines, $1,500,000 worth to the Dutch East Indies, and $750,0000 worth to Peru. Of the $43,000,000 worth of locomotives exported in 1920 over $6,000,000 worth went to Italy, $2,000,000 worth to France, $4,000,000 to Cuba, $2,500,000 to Brazil, $4,000,000 to China, including Kwang-tung, nearly a million dollars worth to Russia and Europe and one-half million dollars worth to Russia and Asia, while our nearby neighbors, Canada and Mexico, took about one-half million dollars worth each.

This call from the out-side world for $150,000,000 worth of high grade manufactures for use of railways is merely a part of the growing world demand for our manufactures, of which our exports have grown from approximately $1,000,000,000 in the year before the war to $8,827,000,000 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, and promises to exceed $4,000,000,000 in the current calendar year.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"SEX"—A story of the quest of happiness, with Louise Glaum in the role of Adrienne Renault, divinity of the Frivolity, never inclined toward the theory "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," for the simple reason that she never could imagine herself situated as other women, is today's feature attraction.

There is a cleverly contrived moral in "Sex" for the quick-witted. The climax comes in Adrienne's life when her own husband is won away from her by the same Daisy Henderson of Cobb Corners in whom she developed the feminine arts of allure and the dance in their days in the Frivolity together. It is then that Adrienne lifts her hands to heaven and all the tragedy of "Sex," all the futility of a loveless woman's life and all the poignancy of the severance of marriage relation are expressed in the heartbreaking query: "Oh, God! Why did this have to happen to me?"

What happened to Adrienne? Did she suffer further or win back the love of the erring husband and "live happily ever after?" Did she kill Daisy Henderson when she had murder in her heart? Or did she wish Daisy luck and move on to a new conquest? Was Adrienne wicked or a "good woman" or was she just—woman? These are the questions that "Sex" alone can answer. See this Hodkinson release at the Soisson theatre today.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"BLUE STREAK M'COY"—In which Harry Carey is seen in a thrilling role, is being presented today as the feature attraction. In "Blue Streak McCoy," Harry Carey has one of those roles in which he is at his best—a part that permits him to display all those human qualities which have endeared him to the public, and to exercise many of those physical and temperamental bits of business which stamp him as a master of his craft. As Job McCoy, a border ranger, whose love of a girl from the east leads him to the performance of gallant service aside from his sworn duties, he has many scenes in which he proves that his title of "Blue Streak McCoy" is no misnomer.

Carey has good support in Ruth Golden, the girl whom he loves better than life and whom he gives up in a spirit of self-sacrifice; Charles Arling, as a mine owner who is so absorbed in business that he forgets the little courtesies which women prize so much; Lila Leslie, as his wife, who harkens to the voice of the tempter but is saved by the interference of Job; little "Breezy" Eason, who is delightfully precocious as the curly-headed lad; Ray Ripley, sinister in the role of a villain, and Charles LeMoyne as his less polished accomplice and Ruth Royce as a fascinating Spanish girl.

PAYMENT FOR COAL CONFISCATED BY THE R. R.'S IN PROGRESS

Ownership of 1,000,000 Tons Not Yet Determined; Government Funds Are Available.

Owners of 1,000,000 tons of coal, confiscated and consumed by the railroads during the bituminous miners' strike last winter, and that has not been paid for, are being sought by Marion J. Wise, manager of the department of material and supplies, division of liquidation of claims, United States Railroad Administration, Washington. The coal was turned over to the railroads by the operators but in the confusion of the distribution and re-routing during the strike, the records showing the origin of the shipments were lost and bills for it have not been rendered.

In the last two months Mr. Wise has made payment for about 26,000 tons of coal confiscated in this manner by the railroads. During this period, however, new claims approximating about 266,000 tons have been filed, so that the net volume of coal for which the railroads cannot find the owners remains at the same figure of 1,000,000 tons, as it did two months ago.

Though the records of the original carrier an effort is being made to trace each car load to the point of consumption, and to adjust payment for it. In a large number of instances the coal-laden cars have gone over many railroads. Some of this coal was confiscated by one railroad, and then turned over to another railroad, and not infrequently, to a third railroad.

All of the approved claims for the 1,000,000 tons for which payment has not been made are in process of settlement, says Mr. Wise. In many instances, differences have arisen as to the price that should be paid for the coal. The Railroad Administration has taken the position that the fixed prices of the Fuel Administration will be paid for the coal except in instances where it was sold on a bona fide contract enforceable by law. Verbal orders and memoranda of sales are not accepted by the Railroad Administration in determining the price that will be paid.

A very large part of the tonnage that is not yet paid for is involved in controversies of this kind.

During the coal strike about 15,000,000 tons of coal was diverted by the railroads. The claims in the hands of Mr. Wise represent about seven per cent of that output. Government funds are available for the payment of the coal as soon as the price that is to be paid for it has been decided upon.

SATURDAY EVENING, OCT. 2, 1920.

TIME TO DO SOMETHING FOR OURSELVES.

The unsolicited contribution made to the Library fund by a well-known citizen of the community, whose modesty prevents mention of his name, shows as the people are feeling when calm consideration is given to the possibility or consequences of having one of our most useful institutions close its doors.

Just call is this voluntary offer to prevent a lasting discredit to Connellsville an expression of this particular man's sentiments upon an important and timely matter of public interest, and a measure of his pride in the continued good work of a local institution, but it is evidence of a willingness to be really concerned about the welfare and progress of persons other than members of his own family and immediate circle of friends.

During the war this man, along with others like him, joined in promoting every activity in behalf of our country and the boys who were maintaining its honor and adding to its prestige on the battlefields of France. As typical of that spirit which prompted us to buy Liberty Bonds "until it hurts" contribute to the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army, K. of C., War Chest, Young Men's Hebrew Association; deny ourselves luxuries and ration our food supplies and stint ourselves generally, and give our cast-off clothing to the war sufferers of Europe and Asia, and which impelled the full-hearted and untiring women of the Red Cross and the Navy League to sew and knit long and weary hours, this first donor to the Library fund now represents the spirit by which we have need to be animated at this time.

Having as a community done our full part in the war, and for others whom we will never know, and who have not known and never will know us except as an unidentified portion of the great patriotic, warm-hearted American public which gladly answered the call to service and sacrifice during the days of a great emergency, we have fully and honorably earned the right to do something for ourselves and for those whom we do know and who know us.

What more or better can we do than to imitate the splendid example of the person, not even a resident of the city, who has sensed his privilege so quickly and found pleasure in yielding to the desire to be of service in so useful and permanently valuable a way to those who are preparing to assume the duties and responsibilities of citizenship?

Having learned the joy of giving when its fruits have not always been visible to us, what finer thing can we now do than to give again and where our gifts will come to a rich fruitage in the lives of our own and our neighbor's children here at home?

Aiding the Library in the sore emergency by which it is confronted should, therefore, appeal to you as the very proper method of doing something for ourselves without incurring the odium of being considered selfish.

Strive To Have Healthy Skin

Next time you are in a gathering of women note the different conditions apparent in complexion. You will see some filled with blackheads, some dry and rough, some smooth and greasy, some smeared with rouge, some smoked with heavy metallic powders and once in a while you will see one that is a demonstration of intelligence from every point of view. The color is rosy, the skin is clear and smooth, the pores are small and open, the powder does not show on the firm vigorous skin. Every woman can have a good complexion if she will only use a little discretion. If you would acquire real beauty, the beauty of perfect health, you must replenish your worn-out nerves with lecithin. Nature's own nerve restorer, and put into your blood the invigorating iron which Nature intended it to have for health. In most of the modern foods these and other vitalizing elements have been largely eliminated. Yet to be healthy and beautiful the system must have them. They are found in Bio-feren, not only in proper proportions to restore weakened vitality but in such form as the system can best assimilate them.

A treatment of lecithin and iron peptonate as combined in Bio-feren increases the appetite, aids nutrition and invigorates the patient.

And Bio-feren in its pellet form is easy and palatable to take—no liquid from discoloration of the teeth, no unpleasant taste.

There is no secret or mystery about Bio-feren. Doctors prescribe it regularly because they know exactly what it contains as well as what it will do and they know they could not formulate a better upbuilding tonic.

The action of Bio-feren on the system is so beneficial, we are so sure of its giving you positive health and vigor, providing, of course, there is no serious, chronic ailment such as cancer, tuberculosis, etc., that we only sell it on the condition that you agree to return the empty package and accept a refund of your money unless you are entirely satisfied.

There is no use waiting for health and beauty. It is better to do things today than tomorrow. Go to your physician today—right now—he will advise Bio-feren. Then start taking it at once as he advises or as directions on the package call for. The guarantee protects your money. Interesting booklet may be had for the asking.

Large package $1.00 at all leading druggists or direct if your druggist can not supply you. The Bontanol Remedies Co. Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio.

FARM BUREAU RECOMMENDS SELECTION OF SEED CORN IN FIELD DURING HARVEST

The Fayette County Farm bureau recommends the selection of seed corn now. Prof. F. D. Gardner, head of the agronomy department of the Pennsylvania State college, makes the following statement:

"No crop is more easily and rapidly improved by proper selection than corn and no work on the farm will come so near producing something for nothing as time intelligently spent in improving this crop."

Corn for seeding next year's crop should be selected right in the field before the ear is removed from the plant so that both may be considered in the process. Good plants should be of moderate height. Short joints are preferable to long ones for each bears a leaf. The leaves are the most palatable, digestible, and nutritious part of the foliage. The plants should be free from smut, rust and other diseases.

The ears should be attached to the stalk at height of about four feet and by the shank of moderate length and thickness. The husks should be moderate in amount and sufficiently long to cover the tip of the ear. A good seed ear should be eight or 10 inches long (for a medium maturing variety). The form of the ear should be cylindrical, or be slightly tapering from butt to tip. The tip and butt should be well filled with kernels and the rows, 16 to 20 in number, should be straight with kernels of regular and uniform shape.

The seed corn should be well cared for by storing in a dry, and well ventilated room out of the reach of the rats and mice. After being thoroughly dried, corn will stand a low temperature without injury, but if not well dried a temperature slightly below freezing will injure or destroy its germination. Be sure that corn selected is adapted to the locality, especially with reference to its time of maturity.

MORE THAN THIRD OF FARM LAND IN COUNTY IMPROVED

This, Combined With Drift to Cities, Make Serious Situation For Agriculture.

Thirty-five per cent of the farm land in Fayette county is in an unimproved state, one of the positive primal considerations for the progressive farmer and agriculturist for the 1921 season, records in possession of Farm Agent P. H. Sprenkle show.

Despite the fact land unimprovement constitutes a very serious situation of itself, it is not the lone problem of vexatious nature confronting the county farmer with the arrival of the ensuing spring.

"There is apparently no let up in this 'to the city' tendency on the part of the boys and girls in the country," Mr. Sprenkle said. This, he explains, added more than a little to the griefs of the farmer.

The spring outlook is considered favorable however, Sprenkle finds. Prices should be better for the products of the farm and there will be a complete utilization of all available labor, the county agent is assured.

At present the market on the farm products is downward, this in keeping with a general break in prices.

Discussing the 1920 yield of the county farms, the farm agent summarized briefly as follows:

Hay: Yield two per cent better than the normal 100 per cent yield.

Wheat: "Not so good." About 28 to 30 per cent normal only.

Oats: Good. Five per cent better than the normal 100 per cent yield.

Berry: Good. Nothing normal.

HIGH SCHOOL'S STRONGEST TEAM PLACED IN FIELD TO OPPOSE JOHNSTOWN TODAY

Final Selection of Players To Make the Trip Made After Practice Yesterday.

BOXING MATCHES TONIGHT

The result of the Connellsville-Johnstown game, played at the Flood City at 11 o'clock today will be found on another page of this issue.

The 18 men selected by Coach Rupp for the trip left over the Pennsylvania at 7:23 o'clock this morning. The team was run through a signal practice last night. There were two full teams out, but Coach Rupp devoted his attention to the Varsity. The Johnstown game is the first of a series of big teams which will be met throughout the season.

Enthusiasm and interest in football here is holding up among the players this season. There has been no falling off in attendance at practice. There is not sufficient willingness among fans to purchase season tickets however.

CLEVELAND IS CERTAIN OF A TIE AT THE WORST

Cleveland divided a double-header with Detroit yesterday while Chicago went down before St. Louis. The splitting of the double-header puts Cleveland in a position to be tied by Chicago but in which the team cannot be beaten out. Chicago, to tie with the Indians, must win the remaining two games on its schedule, even though Cleveland does lose two more yet to be played.

The Pittsburg Pirates and Cincinnati went into a triple-header at Forbes Field today. The games started at noon. The three were played in order to close the series on schedule time, two games having been postponed because of rain.

JOHNNY DONNELLY GIVEN DECISION OVER FRED LUX

Johnny Donnelly was given a newspaper decision over Fred Lux at the West End theatre, Uniontown, Thursday night in a 10-round bout. Johnny Pollock of Dawson shaded Frankie Poletz of Brownsville in a four-round encounter. Young Henry of Pittsburg knocked out Lefty Eberhardt of Morgantown and Eddie Miller of Pittsburg was given the decision over Young Dolan of the same place.

INTERESTING BOXING CARD AT CO. D SMOKER TONIGHT

Fresh from his four-round victory over Frankie Poletz of Brownsville, whom Johnny Pollock of Dawson decisively defeated at Uniontown Thursday night, the clashing little fighter of this vicinity will step a six-round exhibition at the armory tonight at a smoker which Company D is holding for the members and their friends. On the same card Billy Carter of this city, who is matched to meet Johnny Donnelly of Uniontown in this division October 16, will also box a six-round exhibition. This is an exceptionally strong attraction for the benefit of the soldier boys and they should bend every effort to attend. Duke Barry will referee the two boxing contests and also the two wrestling matches that will take place.

WISCONSIN FIGHTERS MAKING GOOD MONEY

Fans Paid $305,000 to See Boxers During Year.

Commission Has Managed Fistic Affairs so Well That State Has Received $15,841.91 in Taxes and Fees for Licenses.

During the fiscal year just closed, the seventh for legalized boxing in Wisconsin, fistic fans paid out $305,000 to see the mitt wielders in action. The state received $15,843.91 in taxes and license money, more than twice enough to pay the expense of conducting the sport under the Hedding law. The commission has a balance of $28,106.75 in the state treasury, and it is the only commission under state supervision that is able to pay its own way.

There are 26 clubs in the state, and with the Elks' club and the American Legion posts taking an active interest in boxing, Chairman Walter H. Liginger believes this number will be increased to 40 next season.

Since the state took over the supervision of boxing it has been kept on a high plane, and nearly all the commissions in the country are basing their rules on the principles of the Hedding law. Due to the exacting demands of the commission, which enforces every rule on its books, there has been little complaint from promoters or fans, but some fighters and managers, who have felt the brunt of the commission's fist, think otherwise.

About twenty-five managers and their fighters were suspended during the year, the majority for minor offenses. Two of them, Sammy Marino and George Adams, were set down for a year, when found guilty of participating in a sham bout at Fond du Lac.

The three commissioners appointed when the Hedding law went into effect in 1913, Chairman Walter H. Liginger, William C. Hart and Dr. W. C. Morter, still hold their positions, all of them having been reappointed, which proves they have used the power of their offices for the best interests of the game. Secretary Manning Vaughn, named when the commission was formed, also is still in office.

The commission made a hit with the newspapers when it ruled that press row seats must be used by the working press only. Visiting promoters and other celebrities are not allowed to occupy these chairs. If Jack Dempsey wishes to see a ring bout in Wisconsin, he cannot get nearer than the first row ringside.

TO GOVERN BASKETBALL

To control professional basketball players by a commission patterned after the baseball governing council, four Eastern organizations plan action. They are Eastern, Penn State, New York State and Interstate. It is hoped to have things in readiness by fall.

"BEAN BALL" RECORD

In view of Carl Mays's reputation for pitching the so-called "bean ball," it is well to turn to the American league records of 1919. Mays hit 10 batsmen last year, but Williams of the White Sox hit 12, Elmer Myers, 10; Sothoron, 10; Harper, Faber and Erickson, 9 each, and Walter Johnson, "Ditch" Leonard, Mogridge and Uhle, 7 each.

STAR PLAYERS PLAN STRIKE

Certain Members of Playing Profession Organizing Union to Demand More Money.

Major league players who have been noting the great crowds at championship games are laboring under the delusion that they are overworked and underpaid. In spite of the fact that salaries are higher than ever this season, certain members of the playing profession are said to be organizing a union for the purpose of making a concerted demand for more money next winter.

It is understood that former directors of the defunct Players' fraternity are at the head of this movement, and that they have been working secretly to perfect the new organization for the past two months.

The magnates are wise to the situation, and are preparing for a struggle that may take the form of a general strike when new contracts are sent out. The players who are the ringleaders include some who have seen their best days.

THE GREAT SHADOW

By A. CONAN DOYLE

Author of The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes

Copyright by A. Conan Doyle

We found our level after a time when she saw that she had just to do what she liked and how she liked and that I was as much at her beck and call as old Rob was at mine You'll think that I was a fool to have had my head so turned,-and maybe I was but, then, you must think how little I was used to women, and how much we were thrown together Besides she was a woman in a million and I can tell you that it was a strong head that would not be turned by her

Why, there was Major Elliott a man that had buried three wives and had twelve pitched battles to his name Edie could have turned him round her finger like a damp rag—she only new from the boarding school I met him hobbling from West Inch the first time after she came with pink in his cheeks and a shine in his eye that took ten years from him He was cocking up his gray mustaches at either end and trying them into his eyes and swearing out with his sound leg as pro per as a piper What she had said to him the Lord knows but it waslike old wine in his veins

I saw the corner of a newspaper thrusting out of his pocket and I knew that he had come over as was his way to give me some news for we heard little enough at West Inch

"What is fresh major?" I asked

He pulled the paper out with a flourish "The allies have won a great battle my lad says he I don't think Nap can stand up long against this The Saxons have thrown him over and he's been badly beat at Leipzig Wellington is past the Pyrenees and Graham's folk will be at Bayonne before long

I chucked up my hat Then the war will come to an end at last I cried

Aye and time too' said he shaking his head gravely It's been a bloody business But it is hardly worth while for me to say now what was in my mind about you

What was that?

'Well laddie you are doing no good here and now that my knee is getting more limber I was hoping, that I might get on active service again I wondered whether maybe you might like to do a little soldiering under me My heart jumped at the thought "Aye would I I cried

But it'll be clear six months before I'll be fit to pass a board and it's long odds that Bonny will be under locks and keys before that

And Uncle's my mother said I "I'd bet she'd never let me go

"Ah well she'll never be told I to now" he answered and hobbled on upon his way

I sat down among the heather with my chin on my hand turning the thing over in mind and watched him in his old brown clothes with a cord of a tartan plaid flapping over his shoulders as he picked his way up the swell of the hill It was a poor life this at best for a waiting on till my fathers hoes with the same heath and he in the same house forever before me But there—over the blue sea—oh there was a life fit for a man

For two days I turned it over in my mind and on the third there came something which first brought my resolutions to a head and then blew them all to nothing, like a puff of smoke in the wind

I had stroled out in the afternoon with Cousin Edie and Rob until we found ourselves on the brow of the slope which dips away down to the beach I pulled an armful of bracken to make a couch for Edie and there she lay in her listless fashion happy and contented for of all folk that I have ever met she had the most joy from warmth and light

There was a ship coming up the wind—a black sedate old merchantman—bound for Leith as likely as not Her yards were square and she was running with all sail set On the other tack coming from the north were two great ugly lugger like craft with one high mast each and a big square brown sail A prettier sight one would not wish than to see the three craft dipping along upon so fair a day but of a sudden there came a spurt of flame and a whirl of blue smoke from one lugger then the same from that second and a rap tap rap from the ship In a twinkling hell had elbowed out heaven and there on the water was hatred and savagery and the lust for blood

We had sprung to our feet at the outburst and Edie put her hand all in a tremble, upon my arm

"They are fighting, Jack" she cried "What are they? Who are they?"

My heart was thudding with the guns and it was all that I could do to answer her for the catch of my breath

"It's two French privateers Edie said I "Chasse-marees they call them and yons one of our merchantships, and they'll take her as sure as death for the major says that they've always got heavy guns and are as full of men as an egg's full of meat Why doesn't the fool make back for Tweed mouth lang?"

But not an inch of canvas did she lower floundering on in her stolid fashion while a little black hat ran up her mast and the three ensigns suddenly out from the hull aboard Then again came the rap tap rap of her little guns and the boom boom of the big carronades in the bows of the lugger An instant later the three ships met and the merchantman staggered on like a stag with two wolves hanging to its haunches For an hour—the hell cloud moved slowly across the face of the water, and still with red hearts in our mouths we watched the flip of the flag staffs to see if it were theirs At last the smoke cleared we saw each of the lugger squat sprawling like a broken kite duck upon the water and the other working hard to get the crew from her before she sank

For all that hour I had lived for nothing but the fight My cap had been whisked away by the wind but I had never given it a thought Now with my heart full I turned upon Cousin Edie and the sight of her took me back six years There was the vacant staring eye and the parted lips just as I had seen them in her girlhood and her little hands were clenched until the knuckles gleamed like ivory

Ah that captain' she said talking to the heath and the whin bushes "There is a man—so strong so resolute I would give a year of my life to meet such a man But that is what living in the country means One never sees anybody but just those who are fit for nothing better"

I do not know that she meant to hurt me though she was never very backward at that but whatever her intention her words seemed to strike straight upon a naked nerve

'Very well Cousin Edie I said trying to speak calmly That puts the cap on it I'll take the bounty in Berwick tonight

'Oh you'd look so handsome in a red coat Jack, and it impresses one vastly when you are in a temper I wish your eyes would always flash like that for it looks so nice and manly But I am sure that you are joking about the soldiering

I'll let you see if I'm joking Then and there I set off running over the moor until I burst in on the kitchen where my father and mother were sitting on either side of the ingle

Mother' I cried 'I'm off for a soldier'

Had I said that I was off for a hurglar they could not have looked more over it for in those days among the decent country folks it was mostly the black sheep that were hustled by the sergeant But my words those same black sheep did their work for some rare service to me My mother put up her mittens to her eyes and my father looked as black as pitch hole

Hoot' Jock what's ta'en ye' said I But or ever a word

'I' said I have no blessing from me

'Then I'll go without'

At this my mother rose scared and threw her arms round me I saw her hand all trembling and knuckly with the work of what he done for my sisters and I provided with me answers all have done My heart was full to but my will was set I kissed her on each cheek with a kiss and then ran down to pack my bundle It was in growing dusk before me I had finished my father had come in and was sitting by the fire with his head between his hands and there was I like the Prodigal

Still I said she' Jock really going? I don't mind yet to go

Yet said her father looking for a little I was sorry I left that I would show you off a bit All my trouble am on for the spite of seeing She I gave Isobel a kiss and it was because I felt sad and lonely

Oh I think so little of you that said she All that is the reason you can go away Well I'll go back to Blyth stays I am—If I can find you?'

We were free to family to gather and I ran up to the town where I was done My arms were round her and I was kissing her and kissing her and kissing her in her mouth her cheeks her eyes and put me her to my heart and I spoke of her that she was all all to me and that I must not be without her She said nothing but by a passion, but she stood her face aside and when he pushed no back It was not very kind

Why you're all a-trembling' said she putting her self and her hair with her two hands You have tossed me to a I had no idea that you would be so forward

But all my fear there was gone and a love tenfold better than ever was boiling in my veins I lifted her up and kissed her as if I were my right

You are my very own now I cried "I shall not go to Berwick for I'll stay and marry on

But she laughed when I spoke of marriage Silly boy Silly boy she said she with her forefinger up and then when I tried to fix hands on her again she gave a little dainty courtesy and was off into the house

Your Table Linen and Bill Smith's Overalls

"I would like to use the laundry," said Mrs. Porter, "but I just can't bring myself to the thought of having my table linen washed with Bill Smith's overalls, and Sam Brown's socks"

Mrs. Porter unwittingly exposed in this remark her lack of familiarity with modern laundry methods.

Really, it would make little difference from the sanitary point of view if this mixing were practised, for everything we wash is sterilized as well as cleansed

But actually there is no such promiscuous washing. The things that come to us in your bundle are all carefully sorted. Hosiery is washed only with hosiery, table linen only with table linen, "pinks" only with "pinks" and so on Each class of goods is washed separately from every other—and the water renewed from nine to twelve times while laundering is in progress.

This is a method superior even to that of the laundress. You receive your washing back sweetly clean—and pure.

But are you sure of this when you send your washing to some unknown place, where there is no supervision, and little knowledge of modern laundry sanitation?

If you would best guard your own and your family's health, and secure refreshing cleanliness, at moderate cost, call us up. We will send our driver for your family bundle.

CHEAPER COKE SEEMS NOW TO HAVE RECEDED INTO DIM FUTURE

Consumption Requirements Show No Material Increase.

QUOTATIONS UNCHANGED

Market Clearly Defined at $16.50@$17.00 For Spot; Former For P. & L. E., Latter For P. R. R. Shipments; No Interest in Contracts.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 29.—The outlook for cheaper coke has receded into the dim future, as the coke market has stood the strain of the pig iron market becoming stagnant without receding materially, consumptive requirements in coke do not decrease and there are no definite indications that production will increase materially.

The range for quotations for spot coke is unchanged, but in foundry coke at least the balance between offerings and demand shows a little tendency to swing in the direction of somewhat higher prices. In furnace coke a sharp distinction has come to be made according to the road over which shipment must be made. This week the market has been clearly defined at $16.50 for spot coke on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie and at $17 for coke over the Pennsylvania. The Lake Erie is moving much more coke than the Pennsylvania, all the yards of the latter being more or less congested with coal and coke. Some sales of furnace coke on the Lake Erie have been made at $16.25 and $16, but the coke was of uncertain quality. In market talk references to quality are often made quite loosely. Sometimes one hears of sales being made to furnaces at 50 cents under what is considered the market, and the explanation given is that the coke was "off grade." That is hardly correct, for even in extreme cases a furnaceman will not buy coke that is plainly off grade. It is dear at any price as it upsets the working of the furnace. When coke is sold at a special price to move it the case usually is one of the furnace being willing to take a chance on the coke being somewhat under standard, and coke that is really and certainly "off" rarely gets into a furnace at all. The market remains quotable at last week's figures:

Spot furnace	$16.50@$17.00
Spot foundry	$17.50@$18.00

There is practically no interest in either furnace or foundry coke on contract. One or two producing interests have been sounding their customers on first half contracts but without getting any serious response. Consumers as a class regard their own business prospects as so uncertain that they prefer to wait before contracting for coke, feeling that delay is likely to operate in their favor, in the matter of price, while there are few consumers who are in position at this time to determine positively at what rate they are going to operate it at all. In occasional instances a foundry interest with a particularly stable line of goods has inquired as to foundry coke prices for the first quarter or first half of next year, but apparently more as a "feeler" than with any definite intention of closing at this time. All that can be said of contract prices is that one or two producers have mentioned $14 for furnace and $15 for foundry coke as prices at which they would be willing to sell for first half.

The local pig iron market continues stagnant, and the stagnation has spread to the districts that hitherto have been showing some activity, so that the pig iron markets all over the country are remarkably inactive. By common consent, apparently, consumers of pig iron have made up their minds that the next change in prices will be downward. Consumers in the main are well covered, and particularly so since they are getting better deliveries than formerly on their old contracts, at lower prices than those ruling of late. Much of the high priced iron sold in the past two or three months has been delivered. The market is well defined on the basis of last sales, nothing definite having occured thus far to establish a new range of values:

Bessemer	$48.50
Basic	$48.50
Foundry	$50.00
Malleable	$50.00

These prices are f. o. b. Valley furnaces, freight to Pittsburg being $1.96.

STOCKS AT STEEL MILLS REDUCED TO ONE-THIRD VOLUME

No Uneasiness Regarding Contests as to Steel Prices; A General Decline Would Be Advantageous.

Special to The Weekly Courier

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

There seems to be no doubt that the accumulations of steel at mills are reduced to less than one-third what they were at the peak two months ago, and as this reduction has been accomplished in a few weeks, with increased production at the same time the deliveries of steel have been very heavy. The stagnation in the prompt market would be a natural and inevitable result.

The steel trade views with equanimity if not positive satisfaction the decline that has begun in automobile prices and exhibits no uneasiness regarding any contest as to steel prices that may be based upon the reduction in automobile prices. The high levels from which automobile prices are dropping are not attributable to the cost of steel, as steel sells for a very few cents a pound while automobiles have been selling at from 50 cents to more than a dollar a pound, and not much more than half the weight of a car is in rolled steel. If steel bars, sheets, etc., were furnished free the decrease in the cost of building a car would be small.

If a general and important decline in commodity prices and the cost of construction work should occur the final results would be advantageous to the steel industry as the consumption of steel would be encouraged, and such readjustments in iron and steel prices as may be requisite can be effected without difficulty. Commodity prices and labor costs have a long distance to travel, for illustration, before they are in keeping with the United States Steel Corporation's prices for steel products, which are only 30 per cent above the 10-year pre-war average of market prices.

Pig iron is now stagnant in all districts, with rumors beginning to circulate of cut prices being made. These rumors seem to be based on sales of misfit iron. The furnaces generally are refraining from cutting prices and as they are well sold ahead, with consumers correspondingly well covered, the expected decline in pig iron may not occur very soon.

CRUDOLEUM

FOR POLISHING HIGH CLASS FURNITURE

You simply must try CRUDOLEUM for polishing furniture. Its touch leaves that rich soft glow that makers of high-class home fixtures take such pains to attain. Step into the finishing room of the piano factory, if you please; if you watch closely you will usually discern the bottle which contains the same old-time polish, "Petroleum," that brightened the homes of many years ago. It has marked the passing of many other polishes, CRUDOLEUM is the higher, cleaner, purer grade of that time-tested, undaunted petroleum.

Nature in its marvelous laboratory, has compounded CRUDOLEUM with exactness, filtered and re-filtered it until clean and clear, then stored it in the chambers of the rocks, from which place man's ingenuity sent it gushing cool and sweet, rich and light in color, bubbling and sparkling into the sunlight, a perfected and finished natural product. Although its beautiful color was admired by many who visited the well, it was the president of the Simpson Drug Co. who saw in it, on account of its exceptional purity, great possibilities as a superior product for drug and chemical uses. The Connellsville Drug Co. and the Broadway Drug Co., who are the agents in Connellsville and Scottdale, sell a large bottle for 35c and are authorized to return your money to you if you are not pleased with CRUDOLEUM. If your druggist does not keep it, send 40c to Wm. M. Simpson Drug Co., Wholesale Druggists, Wilkinsburg Station, Pittsburg, Pa., and you will receive a half pint bottle by return mail.—Adv.

Beauty Chats

PRETTY FEET

GOOD shoes cover a multitude of defects in the matter of feet yet every woman wants to have her own feet as naturally pretty as possible. And it is not an easy task to bring feet long disfigured by corns and callouses into the pink and white and perfect form that nature intended.

The first thing to do, however, is to make quite sure that the style of shoe being worn is one that agrees with the foot. If new corns come, if the toes are pushed together, you may be sure that special type of footwear had better be discarded. For one thing, sharp pointed shoes are harmful to any sort of foot. They push over the big toe against the next smaller one to bring the large toe in the center of the foot and the point of the shoe, at one and the same time. This means eventual disfigurement.

Heels more than an inch and a half high are injurious; they throw the balance of the body outside the normal line. It would be an excellent thing if women would adopt the English walking boot style for daytime, if they are on their feet much of the time. These have half heels, and are stylish, and usually extra well made. For evenings Cuban and French heels are all right. Then, the feet should be bathed in hot water and soap every night, unless one gets a hot bath daily. They need more attention than the rest of the body since, being encased in leather two-thirds of the time, they get less ventilation than any other part. People with foot trouble would find comfort if they wore open sandals in the house with stockings over the feet.

LAXATIVE for Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.
